

International Symposium on Succulents and other Ornamentals at Ambalavayal, Wayanad, Kerala - 24th to 27th January 2016

Important Announcement

Sir/Madam,

*It is our honor and pleasure to invite you officially to attend the “International Symposium on Succulents and Other Ornamentals” at the Regional Agricultural Research Station in Wayanad, being jointly organized by the Kerala Agricultural University and the International Society for Horticultural Scientists from 24th to 27th January, 2016. The season also becomes historic for KAU since this venue (Wayanad - the most beautiful region of this God’s own country”) has also been chosen for conducting the First Global Flori-Fest & Trade Show being organized from 20th January 2016 to 2nd February 2016.*

This being the first ever International Symposium on Floriculture in the Indian Subcontinent, the event is going to be a unique opportunity for the Floriculture Partners of the region to promote and expand agri-tourism as well as floriculture globally. Kindly note that this is the rarest opportunity for the scientists, researchers and students to register and participate in an International Symposium under the banner of the ISHS, the World’s most reputed organization of the Horticultural Scientists.

Delegates from more than 50 nations are expected for the show. The global Flori-Fest and the Symposium are intended to arrange a platform for free interaction of various researchers and other stakeholders actively involved in the global tourism as well as floriculture research, production and export. We urge you to kindly register and ensure your participation for the symposium

Regards
